

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system that provides compressed histogram data comprises a compiler histogram interface that obtains histogram data about a table in a database, and a dynamic histogram compressor that receives output from the compiler histogram
5 interface, input regarding a database query and table information to produce compressed histogram data for use by an optimizer.